How it all began ...

It was a set of simple thoughts that led to the conceptualisation of the Super CA program in 2020:

"Can we, as IIT alumni, help take the benefits of emerging technologies in data science to other professions like Chartered Accountancy, Medicine, Law, and Architecture?"

"Would the emergence of data science as a foundational science create leadership opportunities for IIT alumni in those fields?"

"Together, as IIT alumni, can we not only revolutionise the field of accountancy but also create a global Indian brand in it?"

United, we can act as a force multiplier like no other community can. Data science, including AI is rapidly emerging as a key foundational subject across fields.

It is high time that we enabled greater reach of technology to positively inflect multiple professions including accountancy and medicine.

Synopsis

India is in need of foreign money. Global investors feel confident when a MNC auditors is involved in a business.

As the shadow of severe action looms over Deloitte Haskins & Sells and BSR & Co — a part of KPMG network — in the aftermath of IL&FS, the fate of big audit companies again appears to be under a cloud.

After long years of dominant run by multinational auditors, is the time now ripe for PM Modi's dream desi Big 4? Many are of the view that the current flux in the audit scene may've just presented India with a chance to correct a long-running imbalance in its corporate corridors.

SuperCA - The Need

The CA profession is at the crossroads because of:

domination of the profession in India by the Big6 firms which has made it difficult for large Indian firms to survive.

inability of the profession to attract good quality students. Even children of well established CAs are unwilling to join the profession.

inability of the smaller firms to offer quality training and exposure during articleship. Many qualifying CAs have not done any articleship at all, spending most of their time in coaching institutes.

failure of ICAI on multiple fronts leading to poor quality professionals because of branding failure, inappropriate leadership, lack of cultural diversity, non-existent global focus and poor softskills.
